

KVHA News – New LED Lighting at Kent Valley Ice Centre, Inside and Outside

Kent Valley Ice Centre, Kent, WA., Friday, February 9, 2018 – According to an unnamed source at NASA, The Kent Valley Ice Centre is now visible from the International Space Station, on a clear night, of course. New LED lighting was recently installed inside and outside the arena, including the batting cages, the miniature golf course, the parking lot and the building itself. While the lighting is significantly brighter, it uses less energy.

Thanks to the Kent Valley Ice Centre ownership team for making our favorite ice rink brighter, more efficient and safer. Way to go team!

New Seattle Thunderbirds Banner Displayed at Kent Valley Ice Centre

It took a little longer than expected to get the large banner (24' by 16') hung on the south wall of Kent Valley Ice Centre, but it's finally there. The two Kent Valley players standing next to the Seattle Thunderbirds are (left to right) Max White (white helmet, of course) and Kuhio Carl. White plays for the Kent Valley 10U "B" Selects and Carl plays for the Kent Valley 10U Tornados.

Thanks to the Seattle Thunderbirds for providing the monster banner and to the T-Birds' Photographer Brian Liesse for that great photo.
