

KVHA News – 2017/2018 Season Winding Down for Kent Valley’s Teams

Kent Valley Ice Centre, Kent, WA., Sunday, March 25, 2018 - Kent Valley’s 2017/2018 hockey season ended on Sunday, March 25th. Next up is spring hockey and a full slate of spring programs.

Andy Jasicki, Kent Valley’s Hockey Director, has wrapped up his duties with KVHA, cleaned out his desk and is headed for his new coaching job in Colorado. The Kent Valley family thanks Andy for all he did for us during his short stay in Kent and wish him well in the future. Andy was originally hired as the Head Coach of the Seattle Ravens. When that team folded early in the season, Andy was hired as Kent Valley’s Hockey Director, not necessarily the job he had come to Kent to do. Andy learned the Hockey Director ropes quickly, got to know the teams and coaches and was able to fill in as coach and hockey instructor throughout the season wherever and whenever he was needed. We will miss Andy’s energy, enthusiasm, skills and knowledge.
