Quote of the Day!

The True Meaning of Winning the Cup:

"I love seeing how the players react to winning the Cup, whether it is their first or their fifth, to see that raw emotion is amazing. To see grown men just lose it and go out of their minds, that is so awesome. Seeing how they break down and cry after going through several months of hell, with their bodies broken down and beaten—that's what hockey is all about. Nobody takes it for granted, that is for sure. It gives me goose bumps every time."

Clark Gillies, Stanley Cup winner with New York Islanders 1980, 1981, 1982, and 1983.
