

KVHA News – All Association Photo is an Exercise in Herding Cats

Kent Valley Ice Centre, Kent, WA., Monday, October 24, 2016 - Kent Valley's annual Photo Night is always entertaining. In particular, I enjoy the "All Association" photo which takes place in the middle of the evenings' event. The effort it takes to get over 250 hockey players, ages 4 to 18, into place at center-ice for the all-important group photo is amazing. It reminds of what it must take to herd cats. Thanks to all the coaches for their patient assistance in getting their teams efficiently through the process. Thanks to the talented photographers, My Sports Image, for their patience, excellent work and coordination. Thanks to the Kent Valley Midgets for helping us get the Learn to Play players through the photo process. And, by the way, our most behaved team/group of this year's photo night was the Learn to Play players who sat patiently on the ice, freezing their hind ends, all while keeping their legs straight out in front of them as instructed. Finally, thanks to Rena Sullivan, she with the frozen toes, for all her work in planning and coordinating the annual KVHA Photo Night.
