

KVHA News – Game Officials Deserve Our Respect, Encouragement and Appreciation

Kent Valley Ice Centre, Kent, WA. November 6, 2014 – Young game officials are involved in our hockey games to learn, practice and perfect their skills. Just like the youth hockey players they are officiating, they too are learning their trade and are deserving of our respect, encouragement, and appreciation. Just like many of our young hockey players who hope to one day play a higher level of hockey, many of our young game officials dream of one day having a career officiating hockey games at higher levels.

Kent Valley Ice Centre was the site of an incident last weekend that serves to remind us of the importance of everyone's role in showing "Respect" for the game, and for the people who make this great game possible. Please take a moment to visit the Respect the Game page on the KVHA Web by clicking here to review the important information on that page.

Without going into specific details of the incident and because it is being reviewed by PNAHA officials, we are limiting our comment. We can say that the incident in question involved a visiting Bantam age player and a PSHOA (Puget Sound Hockey Officials Association) game official. Kent Valley players, coaches and parents were not involved in any disrespect of anyone involved in the game.

Finally, to the young game official involved in the incident; please don't let this unfortunate event discourage you. We respect and appreciate your service and we need your continued involvement in the game now and in the future. Thank you for your service.

Attention Scorekeepers; What Counts as a "Shot on Goal?"

My grandson Chad played in a Junior game over the weekend where his team outshot their opponent 81 to 25. Having followed Chad's team for two seasons I know that they typically get an unusually high number of shots on their opponent's goal. However, 81 shots is pretty high and it makes me wonder who was counting and what they were counting. A total of 106 shots on goal means there was an average of 1.8 shots on goal every minute of the game. Really?

For the record, here are some guidelines on how to count "shots on goal:"

1. There is no specific definition or rule of a shot on goal. But in general terms, a shot on goal is a shot that is taken that either goes into the net for a goal or the goalie prevents (saves) from going into the net for a goal. A shot that hits the goalpost or crossbar, or a shot the goalie stops that would not have gone in the net (wide or high) is not considered a shot on goal.
2. Not every shot directed towards the net is a shot on goal. For example, a shot that is intended towards goal but is blocked by another player is not a shot on goal. Any shot that is intended towards the net but misses the net or hits the posts or the crossbar is also not counted as a shot on goal. A shot on goal that is rebounded by the goalie and then pulled in and covered by the goalie is only counted as one shot on goal, not two.
3. In short, a shot that enters the net or would have entered the net if it had not been blocked by the goalkeeper is considered a "shot on goal."

Typically, for our purposes anyway, shots on goal are counted by the score keeper with help from the penalty box operators. Regardless of who is counting them, the score keeper should make it clear to everyone what should and should not be counted as a shot on goal. Just because a shot was directed in the vicinity of the net does not necessarily mean it was a "shot on goal." Happy counting...

Auction Deadlines Coming Up Soon! Goalie Gear is just one of our Fundraising Goals for 2014/2015.

We are struggling to come up with a date and location for the 2014/2015 KVHA Auction. You cannot imagine how difficult it is to find a date and place for the auction that doesn't conflict with a holiday weekend, a hockey tournament, school holidays, facility bookings, T-Bird games or the Super Bowl... ShoWare is at the top of our list. But it has become a busy facility and finding a date that works for them and also works for us is a real challenge. We are trying to find the best possible date we can and it isn't easy! If you have any alternative suggestions, please let us know...

In the mean time, we have some auction deadlines looming. They are:

November 10, 2014 – This is the deadline for purchasing your two auction tickets. They are $50 each for a total of $100. This amount is not included in your monthly payment of ice fess.

December 10, 2014 – This is the deadline for turning in your auction procurement item with a minimum value of $100. Or, you can Opt Out for $250 cash. The Opt Out fee goes up to $300 after December 10th.

One of our major fundraising goals for 2014/2015 is to acquire three sets of goalie gear, two for Mites and one for Squirts. Some of our goalie gear is going on 15 years. As always, we will also promote donations to our Fund a Player account.

We're also actively seeking an Auction Chairperson(s). If you'd like to help out, please let Rena Sullivan know.

SnoKing PeeWee Blue Sneaks by Kent Valley PeeWee Tornadoes 3 to 2

Story contributed by Ellen Shelden

Kingsgate Ice Arena, Kirkland, WA. November 2, 2014 – As dawn broke for an o-dark-early game on Sunday, November 2nd, the KVHA Tornado caravan rolled into Kirkland to face a confident Sno-King Blue team in league play. Unfortunately, the match-play didn't go as they expected. Instead of getting a "W", the Tornadoes faced an extremely inspired team on their opponent's home ice and the joy from last Saturday's win at home was soon short-lived! Throughout the match, the Tornadoes seemed a bit off their usual focus and spirit from the get go – causing Ferguson and his team to come away with their first loss of the season after a persistent attack by the Sno-King Blues who eventually got the upper-hand to snag the win.

Period 1 - Just as the first puck was dropped, there was something dramatically different about this game! Perhaps it was the frigid, crisp nature of the arena (due to broken heaters) that was mixed with a competitive air that seemed to churn. Or perhaps it was the snappy, new KVHA jerseys worn by each of our ice warriors. In any case, the Tornadoes were in fact skating noticeably slower than usual, appearing to be missing their usual top gear and dogged determination as they went against the Sno-King Blue team during the 1st period. In fact, Sno-King Blue came out full of energy and were clearly ready to defend their home ice. In the end, the strong exchange between both teams prevented either team from scoring, as they had to settle for a scoreless tie as the period came to a close! Great performance by both teams and their net-minders!

Period 2 - The 2nd period was highlighted with a heated battle for possession and persistent attacks from both teams. Unfortunately, the Blues were first to find the net and put a score on the board. However, that just proved to be a motivating factor for the Tornadoes! After fighting some more over the puck, the Tornadoes would find an opportunity to get on the scoreboard with a quick, rebounded goal by Maxwell Mudge, assisted by the pair of cousins (Sean Smith and Caleb Chaloner). Great shot, Max! The Tornadoes regrouped to keep the momentum going – but sadly they let up their defense a bit and allowed the Blues to take the lead and then score one more time just before the close of the period to further extend their lead going into the final period.

Period 3 - It was apparent from the first two periods of play that this game was indeed going to be a battle to the end. Although the 2-goal deficit was disappointing, the Tornadoes wouldn't let it get to them. Instead, they kept up the relentless pressure and the fiery battle for the puck continued well into the 3rd period, with the Tornadoes doing a phenomenal job defending their net. As a result, the Tornadoes' offense was able to mount an attack and get another goal on the scoreboard. This time it was scored by Caleb Chaloner, assisted by Maxwell Mudge. Nice play, Caleb! Despite the Tornadoes best efforts to make up for a slow start by clamping down defensively and ringing three shots off of the Blue's goal posts, the surge was too little too late and our boys simply ran out of time on the clock. Given just one or two more minutes and the ending would likely have been quite different, but time stops for no one - not even a tornado! Consequently, the Blues came out ahead to take the "W" as the period closed.

Summary - In the end, the exciting outcome of this game wasn't decided until the last buzzer sounded. Even with the courageous fight put on by the Tornadoes, it wasn't enough and they disappointingly couldn't take the win on the ice. Sadly, the KVHA Tornadoes played a resilient Sno-King Blue team in league play on Sunday that resulted in a loss with a final score of 2 to 3. However, a lot can be said about the positive growth and developmental maturity seen in the Tornado players so far this season – especially in a closely played match showcasing strong skills from both teams. Hopefully their next game against the Tacoma Rockets at home will provide a different outcome! Good luck, Tornadoes!

Below is the scoring summary for Sunday's game:

Quote of the Day!

Celebrating with Stanley:

"The first year we won it I got to touch it out on the ice, and then I basically never saw it again. I had heard about a bunch of guys taking it all over town and whatnot, so the next year when we won it again I made sure to get my day with Stanley. I did it up right, too. I rented a big stretch limo and took it to 18 different places—from the police station to the fire hall to my golf club—I went everywhere with that thing. It was a nonstop party, all day. I just wanted to share it with as many people as I could. What a great day, just unbelievable. I will never forget it."

John Tonelli, Stanley Cup winner with New York Islanders 1980, 1981, 1982 and 1983.

Quote from Raising Stanley - NHL LEGENDS IN THEIR OWN WORDS by Ross Bernstein

Editor's note: Today you can find John Tonelli residing in New York City working for Fidelity National Financial, a Fortune 500 company that is the nation's largest provider of commercial and residential mortgage and diversified services.
